

Statement of Congressman Ron Paul

United States House of Representatives

Statement for the Record

March 25, 2010

Mr. Chairman, today the Federal Reserve finds itself in an unprecedented and unenviable position. It has

The Federal Reserve has never had such an inflated balance sheet, nor has it ever pumped up the money

What the Federal Reserve still fails to realize is that intervention in the economy is always harmful. Unlike

The idea that a handful of brilliant minds can somehow steer the economy is fatal to economic growth and
